

A safeguard worth celebrating

Wisely, Arizona law requires public notices be printed in your newspaper to tell you about things that may affect you in your home, neighborhood, city and state. Public Notices alert you to activities of government entities and private businesses.

Your right to know is safeguarded in the public notice section of our newspaper. But we go one step further and also make the notices available free and searchable at www.ananews.com/pubnot, a statewide database of public notices created by newspapers..
